February 18th (Canyons Village) – Knox Hamilton
Knox Hamilton is an indie-pop band with refreshing beach vibes from Little Rock, Arkansas. Their musical staple is noted for the laid back guitar riffs and rhythmic drum beats. Their newest song, "Washed Up Together," is a good illustration of their full-length debut album, The Heights.

March 25th (Park City Base Area) –Crystal Fighters
Formed in London, the members of Crystal Fighters play fast electronic dance music with both electric and acoustic guitars. Crystal Fighters uses synthesizers and Basque instruments among their folk, punk, and techno musical influences. Their recent third album, Everything is My Family, stages the band's mixed genre and charismatic harmonies.

April 1st (Canyons Village) – MAGIC GIANT
In 2016 MAGIC GIANT moved bodies and souls in over thirty cities across North America, touring with bands such as Mike Posner and Beats Antique and playing festivals ranging from Electric Forest to Lightning in a Bottle. The LA indie band has built a reputation for its infectious sing-alongs and communal live experiences, blending folk instruments (banjo, fiddle, harmonica) with big drums and dance rhythms. They recorded their debut album from their solar-powered mobile recording studio and are set to release it Spring of 2017.
