PARK CITY, Utah – Nov. 23, 2017 – Park City Mountain, the largest ski resort in the United States, is now open for the 2017-18 season. The Thanksgiving celebration began early on the slopes this year as skiers and snowboarders enjoyed the first tracks of the winter season on Park City Mountain's Homerun trail. Payday and First Time lifts started spinning at 9 a.m. this morning at the Park City Mountain Village as guests eagerly awaited the first chair. Park City Mountain is one of first ski resorts to open in Utah and will remain open through Sunday, April 8, 2018. The Canyons Village is scheduled to open tomorrow, Nov. 24.

New this year Park City Mountain will celebrate the #FIRST30 days of the winter season in style with special events, offers and discounts for locals and Epic Pass holders including two new free concerts in December. Karl Denson's Tiny Universe will play on Saturday, Dec. 2 at the Park City Mountain Village and Andy Frasco and The U.N. will appear on the Canyons Village Stage on Saturday, Dec. 9. Guests will also find discounts on rentals, ski tuning, spa and dining. It's the perfect time for locals to get a head start on the season, warm up their ski legs and take full advantage of their Epic Pass. More information here.

With the resort now open, guests who are planning a Park City Mountain vacation this winter can take advantage of the Snow.com Cyber Monday Sale. The Cyber Monday Sale ends at 11:59 p.m. Mountain time on Tuesday, Nov. 28 and offers savings of up to 50 percent off lodging, and the best available prices for everything you need for the ultimate winter getaway to Park City Mountain. Visit Snow.com/cybermonday to start planning.

Park City Mountain will be open for the season through Sunday, April 8, 2018. For details on events and lodging and updates on terrain and weather reports, visit ParkCityMountain.com.
