

Katz Amsterdam Charitable Trust Invests $3.2 Million in Mental Health and Substance Use Services in Multiple Vail Resorts Mountain Communities

Today, the Katz Amsterdam Charitable Trust announced that Rob Katz—Co-Founder of the Trust and the Katz Amsterdam Foundation, and Chairperson and Chief Executive Officer of Vail Resorts—has pledged more than $3 million in new grant funding to improve mental health and substance use services in 11 mountain communities, including several where Vail Resorts operates.

Over the past decade, Katz and his late wife, Elana Amsterdam, have contributed nearly $30 million through the Katz Amsterdam Foundation and Trust to support community-driven initiatives that strengthen mountain communities—more than $22 million of which has expanded access to mental and behavioral health care and reinforced local systems of support.

“Mental health and substance use challenges are significant nationwide, but mountain communities often face unique barriers like geography and provider shortages,” said Katz. “These grants reflect our belief that everyone—regardless of race, background, or location—deserves access to mental and behavioral health care.”

These grants complement annual commitments made through VailResorts’ EpicPromise, which supports more than 400 nonprofits across the mountain communities where the company operates.

Awarded to 12 grantees and 33 subgrantees, this funding will enhance efforts to:

- Expand behavioral health services, including bilingual and bicultural therapy, peer support, and care navigation tailored to Spanish-speaking communities.
- Support substance use treatment and recovery, such as scholarships for care, expanded sober living options, and evidence-based practices like medication-assisted treatment and contingency management.
- Invest in community-based prevention and engagement, including youth life-skills training and alcohol awareness campaigns.
- Strengthen data systems through the Foundation’s Shared Measurement Framework, which enables community-led solutions by gathering insights directly from residents and aligning services with local needs.
