

More Than 20 Epic Pass Resorts Open for Spring Skiing & Snowboarding

- Check Out the Best Places to Ski and Ride Before the Season Ends
- Lock in Next Season's Epic Pass by April 13 for 10 Buddy Tickets

Spring skiing and snowboarding is in full swing with longer days, warmer temperatures and fresh snow still falling. Across Vail Resorts owned and operated mountains, 21 resorts are still open for spring turns, pond skims, goggle tans and fresh tracks across the West, Rockies, East and Europe.

Mountain resorts open for spring skiing and snowboarding include:

- Rockies: Vail Mountain, Beaver Creek, Breckenridge, Crested Butte, Keystone, Park City Mountain
- West: Whistler Blackcomb, Heavenly, Kirkwood, Northstar, Stevens Pass
- East: Stowe, Attitash, Hunter Mountain, Mount Snow, Mount Sunapee, Okemo, Seven Springs, Wildcat
- Europe: Andermatt-Sedrun, Crans-Montana

“Spring skiing is here!” said Nadia Guerriero, SVP of the Rockies Region, Vail Resorts. “The energy and vibe of skiing and riding in the spring is like nothing else, and conditions are incredible this year. We’re celebrating at our resorts with packed line-ups of spring events, tons of lively après options, and fun new experiences for our guests.”

“We’ve made investments in low-energy snowmaking across our resorts, which unlocks more days on the mountain for skiers and riders, and more consistent conditions, both in the early season and in the spring,” Guerriero continued. “Plus, we’re busy planning even more fun for next winter, so now is the time to lock in the lowest price for Epic Passes and Epic Day Passes.”

Across the Rocky Mountain region, Vail Resorts has invested more than $100 million in improved, energy-efficient snowmaking since 2015, which has increased the average season length by 12 days over the past three seasons*.

While there is still plenty of time to get in the final turns of this season, it is also the best time for skiers and snowboarders to plan for next winter. 2025/26 Epic Passes are on sale at the lowest price, with the last chance for 10 Buddy Tickets coming up on April 13A Buddy Ticket offers up to 45% savings compared to the price of a lift ticket, so Pass Holders can share days at their favorite resorts with family and friends at a great deal. March Delivers Massive Snowfall and Epic Spring Events in the West

On the heels of its highest seven-day snow total (72 inches) since January 2021, North America's largest mountain resort Whistler Blackcomb continues to get dumped on, with 32 inches over the last seven days, 113 inches in March alone, and more in the forecast. All 8,171 skiable acres are open for guests, highlighted by a bevy of signature events and experiences, including:

- Burton Week: March 26-29
- 27th Annual Showcase Showdown: March 29
- Whistler Cup: April 7-13
- World Ski & Snowboard Festival: April 7-13
- Sauditon Couloir - Ski Race Extreme: April 11
- Slush Cup Presented by Corona: April 13
- Mum's & Friend's Mountain Classic: April 16

On April 22, Whistler Blackcomb shifts into spring on Blackcomb Mountain exclusively, with skiing and snowboarding continuing to May 19.

The great times continue at Stevens Pass, with 70 inches of snow in March (67 of which fell between March 10-24). As the Washington State ski resort approaches the end of a successful winter there are several events on tap, including:

- Women's Weekend: March 29-30
- Avy Dog Meet-and-Greet: April 5
- Pride Day: April 6
- Community Fair: April 12
- Springfest (pond skim): April 13

Spring at Heavenly is pure magic – bluebird days, breathtaking views, and unbeatable après. With nearly 5,000 acres of terrain, from wide-open groomers to legendary chutes, every run is an adventure. Off the slopes, the energy keeps going with vibrant South Lake nightlife, lakefront relaxation, and a lineup of spring events through closing day on April 20.

- Rockstar DJ Cat: Weekends
- Spring Fling Park Jam: March 29
- Pond Skim: April 12

Northstar is about more than just skiing – it's about slowing down, soaking up the sun, and making memories. Spring mornings are for carving perfect groomers, afternoons for toasting TOST bubbles, and evenings for fireside s'mores in the Village. With live music, après pop-ups, and spring events through closing day on April 13, it's the ultimate Tahoe retreat.

- Live Music in the Village: Friday-Sundays
- Pepsi Patio Pop-Up: Saturdays & Sundays
- TOST: Saturday & Sundays (conditions permitting)
- Spring It On: April 5-6
 - Pond Skim: April 5
 - Rail Jam: April 6

For those who seek the road less traveled, Kirkwood is the reward. Tucked away in Tahoe's high-alpine, it's a place where deep snow, steep chutes and an adventurous spirit define the experience. Spring storms keep the mountain fresh, while signature events bring out the best of the Kirkwood community: passion, stoke, and getting in as many laps as possible before closing day on April 13.

- IFSA Freeride Challenger Series: March 29-31
- Banked Slalom: April 5
- 2025 Junior Freeride World Championships: April 6-13

Carve into Spring: Where to Catch the Last Turns in the East

The current season snowfall at Stowe has topped 300 inches, and it's still going strong. February brought historic snowfall totals—36 inches above average—leaving the base perfectly primed for epic spring skiing with more than 350 acres of skiing and riding. We're celebrating with the first annual Spring Bash and the return of the legendary Pond Skim on April 11 and 12.

With 3 inches of snow this week and more on the way, Okemo will take you from powder days to pond skims at the Slush Cup and Spring Fling Party.

Mount Snow kicked off spring with Reggaefest—a weekend filled with shredding, live music, the sink-or-swim Pond Skim and the Duct Tape Derby. With fresh snow still falling, spring turns are here, and there's still time to make the most of the season.

We're still seeing snow at Hunter Mountain. Deck out in denim for the legendary Annual Denim Dash Pond Skim. Celebrate the sunshine and longer days with spring skiing laps.

Mount Sunapee's final day of the season is Sunday, April 6, and the resort has plenty of terrain available for spring skiing and riding thanks to recent investments in snowmaking. Nothing says spring like making buttery turns with stunning views of Lake Sunapee, or skimming across Mount Sunapee's 90-foot human-made pond at the Slush Cup, or tapping into your creative side at the Cardboard Sled Race.

Celebrate spring at Attitash at the annual 70's Spring Sendoff with Motor Booty Affair on Saturday, March 29. Attitash just received 4 inches of snow with more on the way this weekend.

With 3 inches of snow already this week, Wildcat has another foot of snow in the forecast over the weekend, and over 2,100 vertical feet of advanced skiing and riding for those looking for a spring adventure.

In Pennsylvania, after 101 incredible operating days, skiers and riders can soak up spring vibes with goggle tans, last laps, and a Spring Break Luau at Seven Springs on Saturday, March 29.

Spring Skiing Farther Afield: Last Minute Wanderlust in Switzerland

Spring skiing at Switzerland's Andermatt-Sedrun and Crans-Montana Mountain Resort offers a unique escape set among high alpine vistas and cobblestoned streets. Warm spring days and uncrowded slopes pair perfectly with outdoor terraces and fine Swiss dining.

Book a last-minute trip to the Caprices Festival, the iconic electronic music event with an avant-garde program set 2,200 meters above sea level. The event will take place April 4-6 and 11-13 in Crans-Montana.

At Andermatt-Sedrun, celebrate spring with the legendary Waterslide Contest and Season End Party Milez on April 5. Pond skim straight to an exhilarating apres-ski party with the Dieri Milez chairlift spinning until 7 p.m. Stay for the High Peak Festival on April 11. This musical spectacle will surround you with majestic peaks and pulsating beats, right in the heart of the Swiss Alps.

*Compares average season length at Vail, Beaver Creek, Crested Butte, Keystone, Park City Mountain, and Breckenridge for FY22-24 relative to FY15-FY19.
